

Music On Hold

With music on hold from TruVista, you can play music you choose or recorded messages that can advertise your company when your callers are on hold.

Music is better

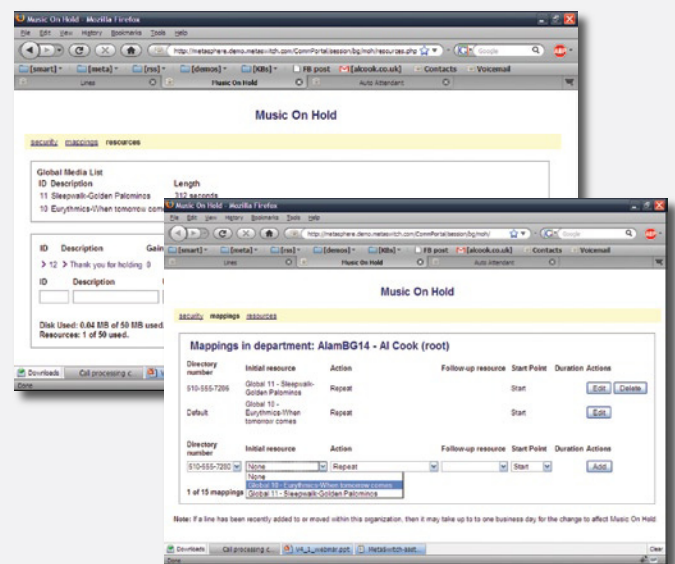

Most callers will hang up within a minute if there's only silence on the line. With Truvista's Music On Hold, you can indicate that the line hasn't died with a default on hold beeping tone. Better yet, you can upload an audio .mp3 or .wav file.

Advertise yourself

You're not limited to music, either. You can use any sound recording you want, including advertisements or information about your company or products. You've got a captive audience; sell yourself!

Control and manipulate your messages quickly and easily

Through the telephone or online, you can self administer your music or announcements played to held, parked, or queued calls in Business Groups. You can also upload authorized recordings or record your own custom announcements.

MetaSphere Music On Hold puts you in control of the media your callers hear.
